THE CITY COUNCIL.

THE QUESTION OF ELIMINATING RAILROAD POLES.

Improvement of Streets - Date for School Board Fixed and Officers Appointed - Miscellaneous Business.

Council met yesterday afternoon, President Reed in the chair. Councilmen Goss, Stearns, Gibbs, Lovell, Teed, Khurts, Hyams, Jones, Willard, Collins and Perry present.

REPORTS. Reports of Zanjero, Mayor, Superintendent of Streets, Clerk of Council, City Auditor and Tax Collector were referred to Committee on Finance.

The bond of Mr. Sawtelle, in $10,000 in the matter of the gas franchise, was presented and accepted.

A communication from J. F. Crank relating to the acceptance of the ordinance in relation to the cable franchise, and the abandonment by the City Railroad Company of a portion of its lines, was received and referred to the City Attorney.

A contract with Fruling Bros. for constructing an iron fence around the Plaza Park was accepted and the bond approved.

A contract with E. Burlingame, for the construction of a levee on the east side of the river, was accepted and the bond approved.

A contract with A. Dallas, for the grading and curbing of Pico street, from Main to Figueroa, was accepted and the bond approved.

The matter of the removal of the electric-railroad poles from Pico street came up, and petitions signed by a large number of property-holders were read.

The Board of Public Works recommended the entire removal of the poles from the street.

Mr. Lovell moved to amend so as to allow the company to move to the sidewalk.

Mr. Jones said that he would like to know how many electric-light poles there were on Pico street. If there was no objection to these poles, there should be no objection to the railway company using them. He favored giving the company a chance, after the enterprise it had shown. He thought its property should not be made useless at one fell sweep.

Mr. Reed, who is a property-owner on the street, stated that a number of people had bought land in that vicinity on the strength of the railway company, and to take away those poles would be a detriment to them as well as a large loss.

Mr. Hyams moved that the matter lay over for one week, to find out what the majority of the people on the street desire in the matter. Adopted.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The Board of Public Works reported as follows:

On petition of H. T. Hazard and others, to have Fifth street widened five feet on each side, between Olive and Hill streets, recommended that the deed be accepted, and the City Attorney be instructed to draft an ordinance dedicating the street to the city, on the south side of Fifth street, between Olive and Hill streets, for sidewalk purposes. On message of Mayor Workman, recommended that the Street Superintendent be instructed to repair all chink-holes on all principal streets leading into the city. Adopted.

Recommended that the Clerk notify E. C. Burlingame to file his bond on the contract for construction of levee on east side of river, as the Board thinks the work should be commenced as soon as possible. Adopted.

On petition of City and Central Railroad Company, to erect a set of scales on Olive street, at car stables, recommended that the same be referred to the Street Superintendent, with power to act. Adopted.

On communication by postal card, signed "Owner," recommending that the petitioners sign names so that the proper authority can tell how to act. Adopted.

On communication by postal card signed "Taxpayer," in reference to stone in front of People's Store, recommended that the matter be referred to Street Superintendent. Adopted.

On petition of S. C. Hubbel et al., to have Pearl street graded between Second and Fifth, recommended the same be granted and the City Attorney be Notices of intention to establish the grades of Adams, Davis and Cushman streets were adopted.

A resolution to establish the grade of Union avenue from Temple to Diamond streets was read and adopted.

The City Attorney presented notices calling for an election for school bonds on the 1st instant.

The resolution was adopted. An ordinance creating the office of Plumbing Inspector was read and referred to the Board of Health.

Mr. Hyams suggested that the matter of a building inspector be referred to the Board of Public Works. Referred to the Fire Commissioners.

Mr. Collins stated that he had been informed that five more carts had been put on. He had seen two carts standing at a hydrant, and the City Water Company had refused to put in fire hydrants, which had been ordered. He asked that the City Attorney be instructed to see whether the Water Company was not in breach of contract in putting in the hydrants. He was satisfied that the Water Company did not intend to put in the hydrants if it could be avoided, and he desired that the matter should be looked into and determined. Referred to the City Attorney.

The City Surveyor was instructed to prepare a map of the proposed opening of Los Angeles street, for the use of the City Attorney.

On petition of the improving of a portion of Main street was read and adopted.

COMMITTEE REPORTS. The Fire Commissioners suggested that two fire hydrants be placed on Buena Vista street, to be connected with the Mountain Water Company, one near the Buena Vista-street bridge and one at the northeast corner of the Catholic Cemetery, and that the City Clerk be instructed to notify the company to that effect, and that the City Surveyor be instructed to give line of Buena Vista street to the Mountain Water Company. Adopted.

A proposal was received from A. Dallas for grading Grand avenue. Referred to Board of Public Works.

The Zanja Committee recommended in the matter of the petition of J. A. Graves with regard to piping the Nickel-ditch, that the committee to act, and that the only reason for the delay was the overcrowding of work in the City Surveyor's office, and that the demands of other committees for the services of that officer be deemed to be allowed to take precedence in almost all cases.

In the matter of the petition of the Second-street Cable Railroad Company to connect by two-inch pipe with the Nickel-ditch, the committee to act, and that the only reason for the delay was the overcrowding of work in the City Surveyor's office, and that the demands of other committees for the services of that officer be deemed to be allowed to take precedence in almost all cases.

Merit Will Only Tell. The sale of lots made by the San Gabriel Valley Land and Water Company, on Wednesday last, was unprecedented in the history of our county. The same enthusiasm prevailed yesterday as was exhibited the day before, and the sales were remarkable. This can not be wondered at, as such good property has never been offered the public, considering the prices paid in Los Angeles county. The immense business already at this point is sufficient evidence to the enthusiastic purchasers that it is the place for stores, banks, warehouses, etc., to meet the demands of the people, being the center of the most productive agricultural district in Southern California, and in the direct path of the great freight and passenger traffic between the East and the West, and being in the hands of the strongest syndicate in the State of California. We predict that East San Gabriel will be one of the most flourishing cities in the valley.

Smokers, Beware! Unprincipled imitators are endeavoring to do business on the reputation of our DAILY TIMES cigars by passing goods of similar style and name on the market, but of very inferior quality. In order to protect smokers of the original DAILY TIMES cigars we use this means of calling their attention to the imposition. See that when you call for the DAILY TIMES cigars you receive no others, and be sure that each box is warranted with our signature. M. A. Newmark & Co.

Booming Vendors. Messrs. J. D. Bicknell, E. F. Kysor, D. G. Stevens, C. E. Day, F. A. Gibson and E. T. Wright, the owners of Los Angeles and Vernon Street Railway, will push the construction of the same and have the cars running at the earliest possible date. The Southern Pacific Central Park tract is now on sale. They have placed a telephone at the Kysor residence so that purchasers who select their lots can report the sale to the general agents. Carriages will leave at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily for the tract, from the agents, Day, Hinton & Mathes, No. 8 North Spring street.

The Streets at Large. Are all being graded. The sprinkling-carts are at work laying the dust. The water is running in townsite and every promise is being kept.

CHAUTAUQUANS.

THE LONG BEACH ASSEMBLY STILL DOING GOOD.

Rev. Cantine on "The Girl to Love"—A Lecture Which Young Men May Ponder—Rev. Weller on "The Chautauqua Idea," Etc.

The sessions of "The People's College," at Long Beach, continue to be interesting and profitable to very large audiences.

THE ROUND TABLE.

It was expected that the Rev. Mr. Stevens would lecture on the German University, but instead, Rev. Mr. Weller lectured on "THE CHAUTAUQUA IDEA."

He said the first thing that came into his mind was that it was Christian. There are no issues advocated, on the streets or on the platform. Christian thought, Christian experience, Christian practice, and everything pertaining to Bible Christianity, was inculcated. He referred to Chautauqua in New York, where this great idea first originated, and the excellences demonstrated. He said all the disquisitions of the community at large, such as betting, swearing, horse-racing, drunkenness, Sabbath-breaking, gambling, etc., were discouraged, and never seen. An article of value was never lost at Chautauqua. Everything is returned that is lost. It must not be thought that there is no diversion, that all are singing a dirge; for a happier crowd was never seen. There is everything to please. It seems the fringes on the outer view of diversity. Amusements, such as croquet, boating, etc., and all kinds of unquestioned amusements, are indulged in daily as a relaxation. Cleanliness is a marked feature of this summer city of 10,000 souls. The strictest sanitary regulations are maintained. As a result, sickness or death is a rare occurrence.

Reforms are there nurtured. Everything pertaining to the weal of humanity is promulgated. Temperance—not of the crochety sort—meetings are held, with immense enthusiasm. It is missionary. The wants of heathen lands are dwelt up. I never saw more enthusiasm on this subject than at Chautauqua.

It is a school of music. Christianity and music can never be divorced. The concerts, instrumental and vocal, are worth the "fee" of the grounds. He gave a tribute to the jubilee singers. He said intellectual music had its place, but bringing of the soul—that which is born of enthusiasm—is what is needed. Enthusiasm is the want of the day. He was not sure, but he wrongs the African race, and he wrongs the time had much to do in moulding the pathetic and soul-stirring music peculiar to the race. Knowledge is sought by books, lectures, illustrations, illustration he emphasized as a peculiarity of Chautauqua.

Another thing that should not be overlooked. We utilized our off hours. It systematized our reading, it stimulated to save every hour.

He closed by emphasizing what he said before, ceremonial as memorial of the inception, grand and inspiring questions: How many graduated last year? Six hundred and sixty-eight.

How many will the amphitheater seat? Fully 6000, and 8000 by filling aisles, etc.

BEETHOVEN.

Dr. Weller's Lecture on the Great Musician.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Dr. S. H. Weller addressed the audience on the great musician, Beethoven.

Beethoven's years were one long stretch of music. He was born in 1770, in the little city of Bonn, on the Rhine. The handsomest park in the city extends out from the river, and in this park stands a massive statue of bronze to the man whom the city honors as it honors no other man. The city is a home of scholars, but all scholars must bow before the genius to Beethoven.

Beethoven was a strange character, but all geniuses, I think, are usually strange. In the grandest of his conceptions he was a duplicate of the great Handel, but in his style he more resembles Haydn. Handel and Haydn were both irresistibly drawn to music, while to Beethoven, when a child, music was a task.

He showed no liking for any great effort. The stream was there, but as yet it showed no motion. The lesson is here taught never to be discouraged that your boy is not disposed to task. Only be persistent and you may wake in him a sleeping giant.

It was only in his after years that he performed his greatest works—after he had partially lost the sense of hearing—and this act led him to a sort of inner-hearing harmony of the inner world of thought. Enthusiasm is only possible where there is a world of thought awakened within. Through this means he grew to the fame that shall not die. He is said to be the most conscientiously original of the great masters, and he carried his originality almost to extremes. He was constantly pressing out into new forms of song, and he carried all Europe by his power. He did not believe that the world of music was full. He entered the studio of music, not as a visitor but as an artist, with palette and brush, capable of painting new portraits. Old music became new under the touch of his great artist. As he swept the keys the latent soul sprang into resurrection.

The mastery to what this hero gave him a power which no one could resist. There was nothing assumed in his manner. He was conscious of his power, but he was so conscious of it that he was at a loss to know whence it came. He was a king. Men like him are the real autocrats of power. In his imaginative creative power he was not stronger than Handel, but finer. Beethoven never composed a "hymn," but he could and doubtless would have lived in Handel's time. Beethoven was averse to show and sham. He measured men by what they were and what they had.

Hearing was this hero's eye and ear, and his loss to him an immeasurable calamity. Beethoven passed through storms to his crown. By what means he became his adopted son, and he gave him great trouble. That climaxed the load of sorrow under which the great man was already struggling, and he fell—too soon—into his grave. He was inclined to forget the burden-bearer. Haydn's life was trustful, and so, peaceful. Beethoven's was distrustful, and so, troubled with cloud and storm. Music hath charms, but the ear of earth closes to it. Wisdom says, train the luser ear for the song of immortality. When the soul muses, the fire burns.

THE GIRL TO LOVE.

On Friday evening, Dr. Cantine, of Los Angeles, gave his infallible lecture, "The Girl to Love." After quite a long introduction, in which he said, "I have been looking for this girl for many years, but have not found her yet. I may find her in this audience. There is no trouble finding her in fragments, but the difficulty is to find her in one lump. He said this girl is a star.

The first point of this star I call devotion. Well, everybody has this. But devotion to what? That's the question. It makes all difference what we are devoted to. So he said, this star has five points. First, devotion to home. Many girls love almost any other place. Home, with father, mother, brother, sister, is a dull place. There is some very fine poetry on this subject, and it sounds sweetly when said. But for some girls, it is neither poetry nor music.

What if it be a humble home? What if father be an old-fashioned man who will insist on eating pie with a knife? What if he be destitute of refinement, and can't even write his name? What if he be a drunkard and goes reeling through the streets? He's your father. "Honor thy father and thy mother."

He had occasion to call on a family in Illinois on a Monday to see the lady of the house on some business connected with his parish. He was met by one of three daughters, and escorted to the parlor. She was a beautiful girl. She was faultlessly attired. Another was reading a magazine, and the third was sitting on the piano stool. On a table lay some fancy work she had thrown down.

"Can I see your mother?" "Mother is engaged?" "Well, just for a moment?" "I think she can't be seen this morning."

The mother, overhearing the colloquy, stepped into the parlor, threw off her old apron, drew down her sleeves, and with the air of a lady, greeted him. Then followed apologies from the girls—hollow sham! What if mother be an old-fashioned woman, bent and wrinkled like a hanging hair or sea creature? What if home is not furnished in the most modern style. The girl who has a loving heart will yield devotion to that humble dwelling whether palace, cottage or hut, and to the mother who gave her birth.

Here he gave many illustrations that hit, and spoke at considerable length on other things to which the girl he was looking for should be devoted. We can mention but one. She should be devoted to herself. This, one says, is selfish. Nay, she has a body made by her Creator, "the perfection of beauty." This she will not deform. She has lungs that, in order to keep this beautiful body as God made it, must take in the proper amount of air. So she does not, by the machinery of fashion, pinch and cramp this vital organ. There are a few who, with an undomitable will, ignore fashion and follow the dictates of common sense. He said there was a place somewhere across the sea where they got their fashions. But where they originate he didn't know. He had heard they come from the devil. [Cheers.] But nobody should object to fashion; that fashion left this body, almost divine, intact.

The second star, Industry. God made us to work. Idleness is a crime. But at what? Anything that is necessary to be done. One work is as honorable as another.

Here he spoke of the clerks in stores and offices, the simple souls thinking this more honorable than work in the family.

He approached a young lady whom he knew in a large store in Chicago. He said, "Lucy, may I ask you two or three questions?"

"Certainly."

"How many hours do you work?"

"Ten."

"What wages do you get?"

"Five dollars a week."

"What do you pay for board?"

"Three dollars and a half."

"Do you walk to the store?"

"I pay ten cents a day for car fare."

"Why, Lucy, how do you get along on that?"

"Well, I hardly know, but it is the best I can do."

Here, he said, if I had a daughter who was obliged to earn her own living I would rather she would be a domestic in a respectable family at the price in Chicago of a domestic—$5.00 per week—where she would have her board thrown in, than have her in a store at double the wages. Then his remarks on the temptations to which she was exposed; the laudable desire to appear respectable, like others in society; the titer despair that must at times settle down upon her mind and heart are worthy to be written in letters of gold!

The third point was discretion. Be discreet in the company you keep. Said a young lady to her friend "Why didn't you take my brother's arm last night?" "Because he's a libertine." "Ah, if you're that particular you'll go alone for a long time."

"Then I'll go alone."

Keep no company, read no book, utter no word that you'd be ashamed to have your mother see or hear. Have no secret that you do not tell your mother. Even if your mother has strayed, she will not direct your footsteps wrong, for there is no love like that of a mother.

The fourth point to this star is modesty; not prudish modesty, but retiring; not putting herself forward, nor raising her voice above others. She listens with deference, not only to her superiors, but in company to her inferiors.

A man came to him one day with a troubled face. He said, "I'm afraid Louise will be a fool. O, if she was only like Tommy!" Tommy's boots were every where, and Tommy was always in them. Don't be alarmed! Louise will never be a fool. When they grew up Louise was a mild, modest, intelligent lovable woman; Tommy was a forward, coarse, uncouth man.

Don't be alarmed if your children are bashful, and even want to hide when company comes in.

The fifth point was chastity. Let's see—how is it spelled? Chastity. Well, there will be enough of that. [Cheers.] Purity—that which everybody admires in woman, even the impure themselves. Never read a book, look at a picture or tolerate any society that as much as suggests anything impure.

A man, honored and loved by this nation, who, I believe, is walking the golden streets, though vilified and maligned as few have been, was one of a group of seven, of which I was one, at a hotel in Washington. Some one said: "I have a story to tell." Then glancing around, "I believe there are no ladies present." Logan replied: "My wife is in the parlor; I'll hear nothing that could not be said in her presence." [Immense cheering.]

He concluded by giving the girls an exhortation. Never marry a man that speaks lightly of God or the Bible, that drinks intoxicants, or that is idle.

On the matter of drinking, he related an incident of a girl who lived in his family. She had given her hand to Charley, when one evening he came, and kissing her as he had a right to do, she said: "Why, Charley! Have you been drinking beer?" "Why yes." "Do you drink beer?" "Of course I do." "Will you promise me you won't drink any more?" "Then, if you think more of beer than me, here's your ring." [Great cheering.] In three months after this he came back and said, "Mary will you take back this ring? I've quit." Shortly after I had the pleasure of uniting them in marriage.

We must omit the beautiful peroration. He sat down amidst loud and prolonged cheering.

The Highest Authority.

William Hammond Hall, the State Engineer, who has had years of experience in land and water in California, after a full examination of the Rancho Ex-Mission of San Fernando, reports to the owners of the property, the Porter Land and Water Company, as follows: "You have 10,000 to 11,000 acres, and perhaps more, of really first-rate valley lands for cultivation, with soils not to be surpassed for fertility and desirability by those of any section; lying very favorably for irrigation, and in a neighborhood where climate is well adapted to the best class of agricultural, horticultural and vineyard productions usual in this country." Mr. Hall has been employed by the company to devise a complete plan for the irrigation of the tract with the waters flowing from San Fernando, Sycamore and Pacoima creeks, and from the immense cienegas located upon the ranch, and the public may expect the finest water system in California upon this property. Office, room No. 9, Los Angeles National Bank building, corner First and Spring streets. A man always at San Fernando, with conveyances, to show the property.

The Railway Commission's Hard Task.

Senator Stanford's Private Secretary Forgets Everything Important.

And Secretary Doty Refuses to Produce His Books.

The Commission to Apply to the Courts for Relief—Pointed Questions as to the Use of Railway Money to Influence Politics.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] Before resuming the examination of F. T. Doty, secretary of the Western Development Company, the Pacific Railway Commission, this morning, examined Daniel Z. Yost, assistant United States appraiser, formerly private secretary of Leland Stanford. He stated that he had kept several books, but none that were in any way connected with the Contract and Finance Company. He knew in a general way of the affairs of that company, but was not familiar with them as an official. He last saw the books of the company at Sacramento in the year the Central Pacific Company moved its office from Sacramento to San Francisco.

WITH ABOUT DIVIDENDS.

Gov. Patterson, when he had ever received for Gov. Stanford any dividends in money from the Contract and Finance Company.

Yost replied that he acted financially for his employer, but he could not say whether he ever received any money from that corporation.

When asked to specifically state what transactions he had with the Contract and Finance Company, he replied: "I don't know whether it is proper for me to answer, as I was an individual and not an official. This is his private business, and this is not his railroad business."

Anderson asked if Senator Stanford had received stock of the Central Pacific Railroad from the Contract and Finance Company amounting to $13,000,000, whether that transaction would be entered in his diary.

The witness thought not. Anderson cross-examined the witness at some extent concerning the books of the Contract and Finance Company, which he had seen Mark Hopkins pack for shipment in 1873. He said that Hopkins was engaged in packing the books, himself screwing up the boxes and marking them. During his employment by Senator Stanford, witness kept private memoranda of his business in the shape of a diary. These books and papers were now in the possession of his brother, from whom he could secure them if required.

SOME VERY POINTED QUESTIONS.

"Did you attend to legislation for Gov. Stanford?"

"Yes, in a general way; got up statistics and accounts."

"Did you give money to influence legislation, or directly or indirectly to hear about it?"

"Not that I know of."

"Would you remember such a circumstance?"

"I don't think I could recall such."

"Is it so ordinary, then?"

"I say I don't recall any."

"Did you visit the Legislature, and how often?"

"Well, I attended every Legislature there was. I did not go alone. I generally went with the Governor as his secretary."

"Do you know of any money payments to influence the Legislature or elections?"

"I don't remember. I think I would remember."

POLITICS AND FREE PASSES.

As for politics, he said all officers of the company took an interest in politics, and generally participated in campaigns. All the officers were Republicans, except Gen. Colton, who was a Democrat, and they were accustomed to help along the organization. He never knew of any money being paid by the railroad company to either party.

"Did you issue any passes west in his employ?"

"Yes, sir. I had authority from him. Generally he signed the passes, and I gave them to whom I issued; generally to the employees and their families."

"Did you issue them to members of the Legislature, Congress, judges and their friends?"

"Yes, sir."

REFUSAL TO PRODUCE BOOKS.

Frank T. Doty, secretary of the Western Development Company, Pacific Improvement Companies, was next placed on the stand and asked if he had brought with him the minute books of those companies called for at the last session. He said that under advice of counsel, he had not brought the books with him, and would decline to produce them.

"Are those books open to the inspection of the Commission at your office?"

"I say that any books relating to the Central Pacific are open to your inspection, but not any other books."

"We desire to see the accounts showing the construction and cost of the Central Pacific and all other roads constructed by the Western Development Company. Now can we see those accounts?"

"On advice of counsel, I say that they are not open to inspection."

Witness was then asked with reference to the Southern Development Company, the Carbon Hill Company, Rocky Mountain Coal Company, and other corporations through which the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific carried on their construction of main and feeder lines, and transacted other business for the companies.

"Have you any accounts showing the construction cost of the line from Delta to the boundary of the State?" asked Patterson.

"I have, but I am unable to state how much that amount is."

"Do the Western Development Company's accounts show the construction cost of the roads in question?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do I understand you to decline to show the books and papers relative to the Central Pacific's leases?"

Mr. Bergin then arose and said that the same objection would be made to the production of books of the other development companies.

"Mr. Bergin, I ask you whether you appear here as attorney for the railroad?"

"I don't know whether it is a very material question," answered Bergin.

The question was repeated with the same answer.

"Do you decline to answer?"

"Yes, I decline to answer in that way."

WILL RESORT TO THE COURTS.

"Gentlemen, unless we hold an executive session," said Mr. Patterson, "and make application to the court, we can proceed no further at this time."

"At the close of the executive session Gov. Patterson said the case would have to go to the United States Circuit Court in order to determine the power of the commission. They would, however, examine Senator Stanford at 10 a. m. tomorrow."

CORNER NEAR THE COMMISSION.

In the executive session, Alfred A. Cohen appeared before the commission on behalf of the Central Pacific, in relation to the refusal of the witness, Frank S. Doty, to produce the books of the Western Development Company and the books of the construction companies. He stated that the Central Pacific is willing to produce all books and papers which will instruct the commission within the scope of the act of Congress under which it derives its appointment. He then suggested that Doty be examined only as to the particular subject matter concerning which the commission desires information.

BOUND TO HAVE THE FACTS.

The commissioners contended that they could not make a satisfactory and intelligent report unless they themselves could see and examine the books of the construction companies. Said Commissioner Little: "This commission does not only an examination of the books for the purpose stated, but for the purpose of ascertaining whether the chief officers of the Central Pacific Railroad Company have not used these several corporations as mere instruments to benefit themselves personally, and whether their conduct is not really an abuse of their trust as such officers."

Attention is then called to the fact that the case therefore rests at this point until decision thereon is rendered by United States courts.

Watching the Preliminaries in His Contest With Vandever.

The President Planning an Extensive Swing Around the Circle.

The Act to Give Lands to Indians in Severalty to Be Carried Out—Mrs. Logan's Injuries—Statement of the Public Debt.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—[Special.] Joseph D. Lynch, of Los Angeles, the contestant for Gen. Vandever's seat in Congress, from the Sixth Congressional District of that State, was present at the Capitol today when Gen. Clark, clerk of the House, opened the testimony in the case and arranged it for submission to the Election Committee of the next House.

Gen. Clark has option to determine what portion of the testimony in contested election cases shall be published, and he decided in the Lynch-Vandever contest to print everything except copies of the subpoenas and photographic exhibits.

CLEVELAND'S PROPOSED TRAVELS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The President said today that he felt it to be an absolute necessity that he should in every case request those cities which propose to send delegates to Washington conveying invitations to visit them on his western trip, to forego that formality and forward the communication by mail. He fully appreciated the cordial spirit which prompts such courtesy and which is most gratifying, but it seems to him unnecessary that the President should, for this purpose, at this heated season of the year, should be undertaken. In addition to this consideration, he said it has been his purpose to feel from himself from the capital and the White House as he should feel disposed during this month, and to make no engagements which would require his presence here at any stated time. It is probable that he will leave here the last day of September, and go direct to St. Louis and from there to Kansas City, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Chicago, Nashville and Atlanta. The St. Louis and Atlanta dates being fixed, it will not be practical to diverge much from this programme. The journey will be made by the ordinary routes of travel between the cities named, and the disposition of his time will be to see as much of the country and people on his route as will be consistent with limited time and the fulfillment of his engagements.

LANSING'S SEVERAL VISITS.

The Indian office, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, has prepared letters of instruction for the guidance of the special agents recently appointed to allot lands in severalty to Indians. Special Agent Howard, who is assigned to duty on the Crow Reservation in Montana, is instructed that allotments to those Indians are to be governed by the treaty or agreement approved by the treaty or agreement of April 1, 1882, by which each Indian will receive in addition to the number of acres specified in the act of January 3, 1887, an annual amount of money for the maintenance of his family.

Each head of a family will receive 100 acres of agricultural lands, also 100 acres of grazing lands. In all cases, Indian women have been married to Indian husbands and have children born of such marriage, but have been divorced from such husbands after the Indian custom, the mother should receive an allotment of land as the head of a family, and should be allowed to select land for her children not under charge of the father, if competent to do so. The Winnemago Indians in Nebraska and Siletz Indians in Oregon will take their allotments under the act of February 8, 1887. With this exception the instructions to special agents for the Winnemago and Siletz tribes are the same as sent to special Agent Howard.

BUSINESS.

Stocks and Bonds.

New York, Aug. 2.—Money on call easy, at 100 per cent.; last loans closed at 100.

Prime mercantile paper, 94 1/2 per cent.

Swelling currency, dull and steady at 12 1/2 for 30-day bills; 4 1/2 for 60-day bills.

Stocks.—The stock market today presented on the whole a much firmer tone than at any time last week, though the announcement of the suspension of Gould & Henry was made the basis of another effort to depress prices.

The feeling in the street was much more hopeful, and the covering of shorts was on a large scale, while considerable buying was noticed for a new clique. The effort at depression came time, but the bears found buying too strong, and began to swim with the tide, the advance after having once started meeting with no serious setback for the remainder of the day. The news of the suspension of Gould & Henry was a stock which seemed to have little special features were developed. Lake Shore was a stock which seemed to have little special features were developed. Lake Shore was a stock which seemed to have little special features were developed.

CAPITAL STOCK - - - $1,200,000
12,000 Shares of $100 each.

The company is now fully organized and ready for business; $100,000 of the stock is offered for investment, and is being rapidly taken by home capitalists.

This grand domain is over 2 1/2 miles south of the corporate limits of Los Angeles, and comprises 2524 acres of the best land in Southern California, 238 acres of which is in healthy and profitable vineyards. A branch of the Southern Pacific Company's railway to San Pedro passes along the west side of the land, and the Santa Ana or San Diego branch of the same company passes through the tract from west to east. The Ballona branch of the California Central passes along the northern boundary, while the San Diego branch will pass through the tract for two miles on the northern portion of the ranch. These remarkable railroad facilities make the land especially valuable for manufacturing purposes.

and it is understood that the owners will give generous grants of land to railways for car shops, storage houses for protection and painting of cars, nail factories, iron-works, planing mills and paper mills.

Shippers can be made from the land to all parts of the country by lines that lead in every direction.

The managers of this property think the outlook justifies the anticipation of being able to sell, in subdivision, 800 or 1000 acres of this property for enough money to return them the entire cost of $1,200,000, and have remaining a property that will pay a good return on an investment of $3,000,000.

The sale of 4000 shares now at par is to pay the incumbrances on the land, and for gathering and manufacturing the present enormous grape crop, estimated at 18,000,000 pounds.

Subscriptions for Stock are now being taken at the Offices of PRETTY AND DEFIANT.

HARPER'S FAVORITE CLERK A PRISONER IN JAIL.

Prospect that She Will Stay There All Summer—How Josie Holmes Became Autocrat of the Fidelity Bank—She "Holds Her Tongue."

(Cincinnati Special to the New York World.)

Miss Josie Holmes, the pretty exchange clerk of the defunct Fidelity National Bank, who was arrested yesterday on the charge of having aided Vice-President E. L. Harper in his fraudulent doings, occupies the same room that Harper recently had in the County Jail. She is by far the prettiest and most interesting prisoner that ever was put behind the bars in this city. She has a stately figure, fair complexion, and dark hair and brilliant brown eyes. She is about 25 years old, and was born in this city. Her parents were respectable but without means. Her education was obtained in the public schools. Several years ago her father died, and Josie Holmes became the sole support of her mother. She obtained employment as amanuensis in the family of Dr. N. B. Wolfe, a spiritualist and healing-medium on John street. No word was breathed against her while she was in the employ of Dr. Wolfe, nor until after the collapse of the Fidelity Bank.

When the Fidelity Bank was started with such display and flourish Harper advertised for a young woman exchange clerk. Among those who applied for the place was Josie Holmes. Harper engaged her at once. Her desk was placed near his office door. She was very bright, and performed her duties so acceptably that a little while her salary was increased from $600 to $1200 a year. It did not require any special sagacity on the part of the other clerks to see that Harper was very partial to Miss Holmes. He frequently consulted her, and she was the autocrat of the bank. The new paper put on the walls did not suit her esthetic taste, and it was taken off and other paper put on. The clerks say that they once saw Miss Holmes slap Harper in the mouth, and that he retired in bad humor, but soon returned to her desk and asked her pardon.

The pretty little home of Miss Holmes and her mother in Avondale was furnished at Harper's expense, and he also paid in advance the rent for eighteen months. Harper has all along seemed very devoted to his wife and children. He was not a society man, and never frequented clubs or stayed out late at night. The Fidelity Bank failure brought Miss Holmes prominently before the public, and all the bits of gossip about her influence over the bank-wrecker were repeated in the newspapers. She never seemed to mind the reports, but maintained a calm demeanor, as amazing as that of Harper, in the most trying moments. The authorities kept an eye on the young woman and two detectives constantly shadowed her. She was summoned to the District Attorney's office, but pleaded ignorance of the criminal acts of her employer. Still she visited Harper in his private room at the jail several times and was so indiscreet as to allow him to lock the door to prevent outsiders listening to their conversation. It was because of the frequent meetings of Harper and Miss Holmes that he was transferred to the Dayton jail.

Miss Holmes' arrest for complicity with Harper in robbing the bank was agreed upon by the court and District Attorney more than a week ago, at which time the warrant was sworn out. She was aware of the fact that she probably would be taken into custody, but it did not in the least seem to disturb her equanimity. Wednesday night she was taken from her home in a close carriage to the Burnet House and allowed to remain all night under surveillance. Yesterday morning when she was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hooper she wore a suit of navy blue foulard, trimmed with a band of blue and white. Her hat was of dark straw and was trimmed to match the dress. She seemed haughty and defiant, but at intervals chatted cheerily with those around her. Miss Holmes' attorney advised her to waive examination, which she did, and the bond was fixed at $10,000. The friends of the pretty prisoner did not come to her rescue, nor did she seem to expect that any one would go on her bond. She waited until 5 o'clock, and then with admirable coolness announced that she was ready to go wherever they wished to take her.

A United States marshal called a carriage and Miss Holmes entered it with him and was driven to the Hamilton County Jail. She had been there so often to call upon Mr. Harper that she was somewhat familiar with the place. She tripped lightly down the stone steps and greeted the jailer with a cordial "How'd'y do." A pleasant room in the fourth story, in the jailer's private apartments, was assigned to the new arrival, and she found that it was the same room in which she had visited her former employer.

Miss Holmes' mother is lying dangerously ill of consumption. It is thought that she was ready to die, and that she would be killed by her daughter's disgrace will kill her. The indications are that Miss Holmes will spend the entire summer in jail. It is believed that the Government will not force the case against her, but will let it go. She is so plucky and bright that it will be hard to make her a valuable witness against him. She does not make any statement as to her guilt or innocence, and laughingly says: "Let the Government do its worst." She does not even attempt to defend Harper, but she refuses to condemn him.

The Great Question.

(Inter Ocean.)

The great question now before the country is this: Did the scarred veterans fight to preserve the Union, or did they fight to get their names on the pension list? This is a very important matter—[Atlanta Constitution]. The scarred veterans did fight to preserve the Union. They preserved it, and a Democratic President, who took a left-handed interest in the job, now says they shall fight to get their names on the pension list.

Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Since the death of her husband Harriet Beecher Stowe seems to have lost all interest in life, and only awaits the change. To a friend recently she sadly remarked: "No, I write no more; my work is done." It must be a source of gratification to the grand old woman to know that the thoughtful world looks upon her as a grand woman who has done. No woman of her time had more profoundly stirred the people or done more toward the elevation of the Nation's life.

He Was Dead.

(Life.)

"What is this?" thundered the chairman. "Here is a newspaper report of an 'Anarchist washed ashore.' Who has broken the rules of this change?" "He was dead," said a member, rising. "For he would never have been washed ashore."

Cataract—A New Treatment.

Perhaps one of the most important discoveries in medical science is the new catarrh treatment of Dr. W. N. Davis, 414 North Spring street. The doctor claims that the disease is caused by parasites, microscopic in size, and devotes its treatment to their destruction, which is accomplished by means of powerful remedies. Over two thousand cases have been treated by him during his three years' residence in this city, and in fully 90 per cent. of such cases he has been successful, showing when it is remembered that only 5 per cent. of cases are cured by the general treatment, and that remedies never record a cure.

Sufferers from any disease of the throat or lungs will find it to their advantage to consult the doctor.

CATTLE WOMEN.

COLORADO PROUDLY CLAIMS
800 OF THEM.And Every One of Them Understands Her Business and Knows How to Make Money—Who Questions About Woman's Rights?

[Denver Republican.]

"I assure you," said a prominent cattleman to a Republican representative the other day, "that of all the failures made in stock-raising in this Western country not one of them has been made by women. You can say what you please about the gentler sex not being able to 'rustle' with the stern necessities of bread getting, but you can trust the stock women, sir, to look after their own interests every time, and never, to my knowledge, has one of them been left. They are worth altogether several millions of dollars, and they have got the clearest heads and the best judgment as regards managing stock that I have ever seen displayed by anybody."

"No, sir, I never heard of a stock woman failing in business yet, and I don't believe you ever did. They take their risks, of course, but not unduly. They know what they are doing, and invariably make instead of lose. If you don't believe this you can consult all the stock journals in the country, and they will prove that what I say to you is true."

"Are you personally acquainted with many women engaged in the business of cattle-raising?" asked the reporter.

The cattleman gave a long, low whistle.

"Well, I should think so," he said. "I've studied them for years. You want to know what kind of women they are? I'll tell you what sort they are, young man; they're ladies; that's what they are. Now, I don't mean by that that they would be afraid of holding their hands if occasion required; no, indeed; nor of doing a charitable action which would necessitate some personal exposure on their part, for they are generous to a fault. What I mean to say is that they are, as a rule, refined and intelligent women, who read and think, and are capable of making a good appearance in society. I don't know as I have ever seen one of them who is phenomenally intelligent outside of the judgment they exercise in the stock business, which is phenomenal. Most of them have a genius for business, and nine-tenths of them know how to appear in a drawing-room."

"In most instances they are rich and know well how to use their money to advantage so as to get the most out of life. Many of them are wives and mothers, and when they are such I assure you they are both wise and kind. You will find that they rule their households with firm hands, and that their husbands and children, to use a biblical expression, 'rise up and call them blessed.'"

"I dare say you thought that women who engage in stock raising were all centaurs. Come now, didn't you?" continued the cattleman. "Riding like the wind, half clad, their tresses flying behind them, and all the rest of it, for all the world like a picture from mythology. Confess now, didn't you?"

"I assure you you could not have had a more erroneous impression. Stock women are much like others, save that they have wider judgment on practical subjects. They are thoroughly business-like, because they appreciate the vast interest which they have at stake, and the quick conception with which all women are gifted enables them to see clearly what the inevitable results would be of one false move. They know that their decisions must be well weighted, that they must act only under the most careful consideration, and that once having acted they must abide by their decision with a calm, unswerving spirit. It is a good training school for a woman. It takes all that idiotic nonsense about nerves out of her and gives her brain a cool, common-sense poise which many a man might envy."

"I know of no position in life which I had rather than that of a stock woman. It is one burden with great responsibility, of course, but what mode of life is not where there is anything to be gained? I assure you I should not consider that a clear understanding of the cattle business interfered in any way with the refinement of those whom I hold most dear."

"But you have doubtless met stock-women of a directly opposite class, have you not?"

"Oh, yes; there are necessarily exceptions to all rules. The uncouth woman of the ranch, who rounds up her own herds and sleeps in the saddle, is not altogether a creature of the imagination. In such a position she may be, but she is always a good woman, and one whom all the cowboys respect. I know several instances where these women can swing a lariat like a man and know quite as well how to manage the herd. A very few of them personally supervise their own animals, however, and these in most instances are those who have not as yet accumulated much wealth, although there are some very rich cattlewomen in Colorado who ride after their own herds. This, however, is very unusual. A woman usually manages her cattle through a foreman, whom she often supplies with brain power. She does not usually live on the ranch, but rather in a handsome house in some neighboring town. But all the same she is the house and sinecure of the business. Her clear head manages it all, and it is through her directions that her foreman always proceeds. She often spends the summer on the ranch, where a comfortable dwelling is fitted up for her much on the order of an English shooting-box."

"You want to know something about the unmarried women who are great stock raisers? Well, the main thing that can be said of them is that men of position and prominence everywhere want to marry them, and not purely out of money considerations, either, for some of these unmarried stockwomen have a fund of good sense and useful intelligence which cannot be eclipsed, and besides this many of them are quite accomplished and good looking. But few of them are 'on the marry.' Most of them are past their first youth, and they have a shrewd way of looking at things which makes it hard for the stranger who looks with longing eyes upon their flocks and herds."

"Colorado women generally have gone into the stock business," concluded the cattleman, "through a direct line of inheritance—that is, they have inherited small herds, vast ones, or a taste and inclination for the life. I know of numerous instances where a father has died leaving his daughter a very small herd, and she has gone steadily on with it, making thousands where her father before her made hundreds of dollars. Again, there are widows who have come into possession of vast stock interests through the death of their husbands, and who have managed the business left to them until his receipts run way up in the millions."

"I know resolute women, too, who began without a dollar, and have gained wealth and standing in the stock business. The most highly novel sight I ever saw was a 14-year old girl herding cattle away up in Montana, with only her little brother to assist her. The father of these children had died, leaving them a small herd of cattle, and I would be willing to wager my last dollar that that little brown-skinned girl away up there in that wilderness will yet count her dollars by thousands. Of the 800 stock-women now doing business in Colorado, all are well and favorably known among cattle and sheep men, any one of whom would gladly befriend them in case of an emergency, but whom, on the other hand, they are quite capable of advising in many practical matters relating to stock-raising."

FULTON
WELLS!

No undeveloped locality in Los Angeles county has a more promising future than the new railroad town of Fulton Wells. It is situated on the direct line of the great Santa Fe route to San Diego, the right distance (thirteen miles) from Los Angeles; in the center of a vast area of splendid fruit and farming lands, unequalled in productive capacity by any other section, and surrounded by thriving settlements, all needing a market and trading point. Business will not have to be created—as in most new places—as it is already there, waiting to be utilized. Los Nietos, Rancho, Whittier, Artesia and all the territory south and west, even to Norwalk and Downey, will contribute its business and influence to build up, eventually, on this favored spot, one of the largest cities between Los Angeles and San Diego.

A large percentage of the persons who purchase property in Southern California, are seeking health as well as homes. As a resort for invalids the place is already famous, although the accommodations have heretofore been too limited. Thousands of persons who have been cured of chronic diseases can attest to the virtues of the iron-sulphur water which flows constantly from these celebrated wells. Within a very short time new life will be breathed into this sanitarium. The consolidated company now owning the property, being closely connected with the railroad corporation, will establish their town on a broad and substantial basis. An elegant hotel, with cottages, will be constructed; additional wells are now being bored, the mineral waters of which will be utilized to the greatest possible advantage, and in one of these a supply of natural gas has been discovered, which it is believed will be sufficient to illuminate the town. Extensive parks and gardens will be laid out, planted and decorated with choice shrubs, trees and flowers, and no efforts or money will be spared to make this in reality the Saratoga of Southern California.

The climate is all that can be desired, and is preferable to that of most localities along the base of the mountains. It is cooler in summer and warmer in winter than Pasadena, Monrovia or Pomona, while the atmosphere is sufficiently free from moisture to suit most classes of invalids.

It is well known that the quantity of water which rises in and near the bed of the San Gabriel River between El Monte and Rancho is enormous, and more than sufficient to irrigate every acre of land between the latter point, Anaheim and the ocean, when properly utilized and applied. Hitherto this water—or a part of it—has been taken out in open ditches and used on a limited area. Under this system, or, rather, want of system, more than half of the water has been wasted. In future a broader and more economical policy will be adopted. A stock company is being organized to pipe water for all the land in the vicinity of Fulton Wells. This will undoubtedly be accomplished during the coming year.

A tract of land comprising 6½ acres, lying east and adjacent to the new townsite and less than a half mile from the depot, will be offered for sale at 133 South Spring street and 230 North Main, at 10 o'clock a.m., Thursday August 4th. This sale will furnish an excellent opportunity for purchasers to take advantage of the coming boom. The soil is rich mesa land, and will produce grapes and deciduous fruits without irrigation, except blocks 17 and 18, which are moist land suitable for alfalfa. Flowing wells can be secured, if wanted, but they are not needed. Excellent and abundant surface water can be obtained at a depth averaging from 10 to 30 feet. This is sufficient for all purposes. The tract is platted into three blocks, so that without additional expense each block may be subdivided into twelve lots 50x150 feet—except blocks 17 and 18. The design is to place this property within reach of all who desire to make a little money, and to close it out in a day.

The blocks will be sold at a uniform price, viz: $1000 each. One-third cash; balance in six and twelve months; interest, 10 per cent. Five per cent. discount on deferred payments for cash.

When the first payment is made a certified receipt will be given, signed by the owners, which is transferable, and when all the blocks shall have been sold—not later than August 30, 1887—an equitable distribution will be made by a committee to be appointed at a meeting of all the purchasers. The title to the property is guaranteed to be perfect.

NOTE.—Any person purchasing without having seen the property may have his money refunded if he finds any representation herein made to be incorrect.

It is not improper to state the actual and relative values of this property. Independent of any railroad or town, each and every lot is intrinsically worth the price asked for it. But considering the advantages of location and the prices for which other property in the vicinity is selling (which are really the true criterion of value), this property is offered for about one-half what it is worth. Each of the blocks 17 and 18 contain about 11½ acres, and is worth $2000. Lots in the flourishing town of Whittier, two miles further from the depot than this tract, are selling at $500, and outlying acres at correspondingly high figure. Other lots in and about Fulton Wells, no better located, are selling from $250 to $500 each. These blocks not subdivided are offered at $23.33½ per lot. No fair-minded person can doubt the safety of such an investment.

PROSPECTUS

—OF THE—

Compton Artesian Water Co.

There has been secured, just over the "divide," due west from Compton,

300 Acres of Artesian Water Land

ON WHICH ARE NOW DEVELOPED

NINE ABUNDANTLY FLOWING WELLS

—OF THE—

Finest : Artesian : Water,

Two of which are quite strongly impregnated with white sulphur.

ON ONE HUNDRED ACRES

Of this tract, as has been demonstrated by actual test on various portions of it, artesian wells can be had on every square rod at a depth of from 90 to 500 feet, the latter depth going down through three different water-bearing strata, which is about 300 feet in depth.

With the exception of thirty acres of the Pomeroy-Burlingame tract, adjacent on the north, this is the

ONLY ARTESIAN BELT

West of the mesa between Compton and the immense body of land between it and the San Pedro and Santa Monica bays. This water can be taken out at a level from sixty to eighty feet above tide-water. It can be had in unlimited quantities and can be easily piped over 40,000 to 50,000 acres of land on the San Pedro, the McDonald, the Sausal Redondo and the Freeman ranches. While there is surface water to be had on this vast body of land at a depth of from 50 to 150 feet, generally, it is not of the best quality and has to be pumped by power for domestic or irrigating purposes. The artesian water on the 300 acres alluded to is found on the west bank of a ravine half a mile west of the Wilmington telephone road, which ravine trends to the southwest. On the west side of the ravine no artesian water can be developed.

It is proposed to put this water and the land adjacent, which controls the right of way to the lowland, into a

JOINT STOCK COMPANY,

Which will not only utilize the immense amount which is now daily flowing to waste, but to sink numerous other wells as the demand increases, as it is certain to do, for the land in that region is being rapidly bought up, subdivided and disposed of in 20 to 40-acre tracts. Each of these occupiers must have this water, because it can be furnished cheaper than any other and also because it is absolutely pure and free from any sediment, to say nothing of its medicinal qualities.

The capital stock will be divided into 20,000 shares of the par value of $5 each, 50 per cent. of which will be required in cash and the balance in six months and one year at 5 per cent. Subscriptions to the stock will be received at my new office, 316 North Main street, in the Real Estate Exchange.

The land and the improvements now on the property are richly worth today the full amount for which I propose to capitalize it. There is no project before the public which will realize so large dividends as this.

Stockholders may pay the amount of their subscriptions into the First National Bank where it will remain until they meet, organize and elect their officers, who are to expend the money for the purposes of development.

Surveys and levels are now being made, and maps and plans of the territory to be watered and covered will be prepared at the earliest possible moment, where they may be inspected and all other information obtained as above.

The persons who control a permanent supply of water in Southern California have a better thing than a valuable gold mine.

The water in this scheme will be stocked, but the stock will not be watered.

Lumbermen Attention, Please!

HIGHLY PROSPEROUS.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA INVESTIGATED.

Report of the Conference Committee of Visitors—They Tell of the Progress and Present Status—The Faculty Strengthened.

The committee find that the past year has been one of marked progress in all departments of the University. The new building has been occupied since the opening of the second term. It is a magnificent structure in all respects. It presents a massive yet elegant appearance, is about 100x100 feet, has three stories, basement and attic, all capable of being utilized. There are ten large, well-lighted, well-ventilated and well-furnished recitation rooms, a commodious chapel, museum, library, ladies' study, president's office, cloakrooms, cement-floored room for analytical laboratory, a suite of classrooms, admirably adapted to the purpose for which they were constructed, and still other rooms, which will be used as the rapidly-increasing work of the institution may demand. It was dedicated January 9th by Bishop Fowler, entirely free of debt. The entire cost was about $35,000, but competent builders inform us that it cannot be duplicated now for less than $50,000. The increased facilities afforded by this building have enabled the faculty to do better work than ever before. The board of directors have recently purchased the valuable geological cabinet of Prof. J. Dickinson. Under the painstaking labor of the Professor and his wife this, with the entire collection of fossils, minerals and other specimens of the museum, have been so classified and arranged as to be available for practical working purposes in the various classes needing such help. President Boyard is now working with most encouraging success a plan for the establishment of a suitable library. About $5000 have already been secured, and it is thought that at least $10,000 will be available within a few months for this purpose. The library hall will be at once put in readiness to receive the books, and it is reasonable to hope that the opening of the next college year will find a library here, supplied with the freshest and best books on all subjects accessible to students of all departments. The board of directors have also arranged for the immediate addition of $1000 worth of apparatus in the department of chemistry and physics.

The faculty has been strengthened during the past year by the addition of Rev. E. Thomson, LL.D., vice-president and professor of belle lettres and history; Prof. J. Dickinson, in the department of geology and natural history; Miss Turr, preceptress and professor of mathematics; Prof. Watson, in the chair of modern languages; Miss Gray, in the chair of Greek language and literature; Miss Breed, teacher of vocal, and Miss Wright, teacher of instrumental music.

There have been 170 students in attendance in the college and academic classes, 35 in the musical and 25 in the art department. A class of ten is just graduated, and as it is the first one which has had time to complete the entire course in this new institution, the officers, teachers and friends of the university justly feel an especial interest and pride in it.

The moral and religious influences which pervade the life of the whole school have shown themselves very clearly in the elevated tone of character noteworthy among the students. Among the efficient helps in this important part of the university have been the Young Men's Christian Association and Young Women's Christian Association, organized during the year.

The committee feel confident, after careful personal inspection of the methods of instruction employed, the character and ability of the teachers, the constantly-increasing facilities, the strong religious influences, the wise and liberal spirit of the directors, that the University of Southern California will be able to furnish the very best educational advantages to the young men and young women of this coast.

PAUPER CHILDREN.

A Colony Started for Them in England.

At Banstead, in Surrey, there is being worked out an experiment in the education and bringing up of pauper children which is of exceptional interest. An attempt is being made to combine effective control with the home advantages. On the highlands, near the downs, there are erected twenty-three houses, each standing in its own ground, together with schools, hospitals, a church and the necessary administrative buildings, on the twenty-seven acres which form the little town. A street runs throughout the length of the site, and the houses and other buildings are arranged on each side in a roomy, tasteful manner. Ten of these houses are set apart for boys, and the remaining thirteen for the girls. Over each of the boys' houses are a house-father and a house-mother, who are married. The father follows some trade or occupation which is of use to the village and its occupants. One is a carpenter, another is a tailor, while the others respectfully follow their callings as smith, plumber, shoemaker, baker, gardener and band-master. Over each of the girls' houses is a house-mother. Each of the boys houses is occupied by thirty-eight boys, and each of the girls' houses by twenty-four girls. The house-mother performs the duties of the home in her own particular way. Every week she sends to the store and obtains her week's supply of groceries. She cooks for her children at her own fire, and is assisted by them. She does part of the washing for her large family. The children wash in the floors, clean the dishes, sweep out the rooms and perform the other household duties under her direction. On the ground floor is the kitchen, general room, lavatory and the house-mother's room. Upstairs are the bedrooms. The children sleep in two rooms, and each has a separate bed. The good old rule of "early to bed and early to rise" is strictly followed. When the children are out of school they are not made to sit on forms against a wall with their arms folded and their toes turned out, staring into vacancy, as used to be the case, but they are turned out into the house-grounds to scamp and play at their own games, and to about and be boys and girls like other children. The house-fathers cut toys for their boys, repair their playthings and assist them in their little enterprises, just as a real father does for his own boys. Some of the children have animals which they have purchased with the hoarded pennies they have received at chance times, and they are encouraged to tend them well and are given facilities for doing so. Others of them have fenced off their little gardens, where they grow hardy annuals and shrubs. The home life is necessarily not so free as that enjoyed by children in more fortunate circumstances, but there can be no doubt that the main characteristics of it are there. The education of these children is undertaken in a most praiseworthy spirit. The schools are examined every year by the inspectors of the education department, and have secured satisfactory reports as to the standard of efficiency and the thoroughness of teaching. The greater part of the clothes are made on the site, and the whole of the bread baked there. The washing also is done in the village laundry or the houses. It is practically a self-contained hamlet, with its own roads, sewers and sewage-farm within its own borders. As the children get up in years they are told off to assist the skilled fathers and mothers at their trades. During the three years ended 1884, 130 of the children were placed in situations as apprentices, at sea, and in commercial and independent life on their own account. Of the fifty-nine boys, some went as hair-dressers and pages, and the others were divided over eleven other trades. Of the seventy-one girls, sixty-nine went as servants, one as a hair-dresser and one as a dressmaker. As far as the managers have been able to trace them in their subsequent life, they have conducted themselves with credit to their training.

A Level-Headed Burglar.

A young woman of Portland, Me., awoke the other night to find a man ransacking her bureau. She screamed, but the burglar, with great coolness, said: "Keep still, I won't hurt you. All I want is the trinkets." Her scream, however, had alarmed the house, and the burglar fled. He left his hat behind in his flight, and the gentleman of the house, in hopes that it might serve as a clue to his detection, hung it on the hatrack in the hall. The family then retired again to rest. In the morning it was found that the hat was gone. The burglar had returned later in search of his headgear, found it, and once more made off unmolested.

Town Lots Given Away.

The California Cooperative Colony offers to give a few good lots in the new town of Clearwater to parties who will erect houses thereon, of certain specified values. This is a rare chance for persons wishing to establish homes in a good location by a moderate outlay of money.

For further particulars call at the office of the Cooperative Colony, rooms 3 and 4, Newell block, West Second street.

The Central Park Tract.

Is well named, for with the completion of the Los Angeles and Santa Monica Railroad, also the Los Angeles and Vernon-street Railway (which is only a question of a few weeks) residents in that vicinity can travel direct to Long Beach, Balaena, Santa Monica, San Diego, as well as direct to the center of the city. In fact, you can travel from all parts of the world direct to the beautiful Central Park tract.

Burbank improvements—Street railways and buildings to be built: By a resolution passed by the board of directors, a street railway is to be commenced on Olive avenue, and completed as soon as possible; also, ten more buildings, to be commenced and completed as soon as men and material can be provided—as the demand for buildings is far in excess of the supply.

Business is Booming.

At the rooms of the California Cooperative Colony, Newell block, acre property, and also these large lots in CLEARWATER, are in lively demand, especially since it became known positively that the railroad from Pasadena and Los Angeles to Long Beach will be built soon and will run through the Colony tract and town.

Like Hot Cakes.

The demand for the lots placed on the market on Wednesday of last week by the San Gabriel Valley Land and Water Company has been so great that the odd numbered blocks have been nearly exhausted, and the company have advanced prices $50 per lot, viz., $250, inside, and $325 for corners.

The boom in Burbank has never had a rival in Los Angeles county. Last week's sales were $20,300, and aggregate sales since March 1st nearly a half million. Parties desirous of visiting this new town, by calling at No. 12 South Spring street will receive every attention and information desired.
